

Faculty Fellow Profile - 2013

Chunhui Fan (Leo)

It's Western University from the view of a visiting scholar from the School of Government of Nanjing University, with putting his academic focus on relations between local governments and businesses, the Local Government Program at Western University is worth participating in it with its sufficient attractiveness. It depends not only on its solid and pragmatic academic traditions, but also on its entrenched and everlasting academic foundation. Here, it will provide those different academic experiences and exercises. To every Chinese scholar absorbed in local government studies, there are no shortcomings with the Local Government Program of Western University. The best reward is that it can design research schemes and explore academic spaces varied with each individual. This is the University with which you're going to be satisfied! So, if you're ready, please come to take part in this Program.
